Record Numbers for our 2014 New Member Brunch!

— by Brian McCann

What an awesome time we had on Sunday, May 18th at the New Member Brunch! We could not have asked for better weather, people and cars. We started our day kicking tires in a parking area at the end of downtown Benicia. The views of the water and the quaint town were a perfect venue to catch up with new and old friends, and drool over the classic car eye candy that was parked before us.

After an hour or so of gabbing and gawking, our handsome hosts, Keith Cambra and his husband, Tony Nettle, gave us a quick history lesson that described what we were about to see on our tour. Our first sight was the charming Benicia train depot built in 1897. From there, we saw the State Capitol. No, we did not drive to Sacramento! Benicia was the California state capitol in 1853 and 1854. Who knew?

Although the drive tour theme may have been a bit creepy as it took us past the first two Zodiac Killer areas, it was a good glimpse into our recent history that haunted many of us back in the late sixties and seventies. The drive itself was beautiful and on nice, smooth, parkways. Why can't all California roads be that smooth for our precious cars?

Our enjoyable ride brought us to the Vallejo Yacht Club that has become an excellent spot for some of our events during the year. Thanks to Freewheelers Jim Finley and John Kiszla, we are able to use the parking lot for our classic beauties and the clubhouse for lunch. We had 69 members in attendance which was one of our best turnouts...15 of which were new members.

Many new members brought "first on tour" cars like Faith Alchorn-Selk's 1965 Mustang that she has owned since she was eighteen years old! Connor Chase and Bill Heule brought their 1987 Ford Thunderbird that they just got home the Friday before, after a two-year restoration. The Thunderbird looks stock but open the hood and you see a Cobra V8 with 340 horsepower and over 400 lbs. of torque.

President's Message

If Pride celebrations don't keep your dance card full every weekend this month, David Felderstein has arranged a visit to the California Auto Museum ("CAM" for short) in Sacramento on June the 8th. The exhibits are routinely changed to make visits to CAM fresh, educational and entertaining. Add to that, chefs extraordinaire, Scott Mikkelson and Todd Darling, will prepare a lunch for us at the museum. Good cars, good food and good men; it isn't heaven, it's California.

A trip to our state capitol should make a good "test run" for the lengthier excursion in July to the West Coast Meet in San Luis Obispo. Without sounding like your father, if your car isn't ready to go, you're cutting it close to the wire; most mechanics work on cars in order of parts availability, not when they arrived at the shop. At least with an older car, if there's a power failure and the computer diagnostics won't work, you can still troubleshoot a '57 Chevy with a flashlight and some bobby pins.

One last note about It's a West, West, West, West Coast Meet, make sure you're registered by June 10th; after that there is a $25 late fee. Also, the Embassy Suites is holding rooms for us through the same date; after that, our special room rate goes up and the availability drops. The Embassy Suites shares our desire to have as many people attending the event stay at the Hotel. (Apparently, people don't tip as well if they have to commute from the Madonna Inn.)

I hope to see you in Sacramento and San Luis Obispo. Happy motoring!

Come to the CAM in Sacramento!

—by David Felderstein

Please join your fellow friendly Freewheelers on Sunday, June 8, for a visit to the California Automobile Museum just north of Old Sacramento (along the Sacramento River, near downtown)! This month's current exhibit is "It's Electrifying!" which celebrates the history of electric vehicles and those built for other alternative fuel sources. Featured in this exhibit is a beautiful 1911 Detroit Electric curved-glass sedan. Along with the excellent and diverse collection of cars to peruse in the Museum, an exhibit of cars owned by Museum Docents will be opening the day before our visit. Also on display are some of the cars offered for sale by the Museum, which is a state-licensed dealer.

We will gather at 10 a.m. in the Museum's parking lot for registration and some tire-kicking, followed by a tour of the museum's various collections. After we've had our fill of classic cars, we can fill out bellies with a delicious lunch at the Museum, catered by Freewheelers Todd Darling and Scott Mikkelsen!

✧ It's Electrifying ✧

Alternative Fuel Vehicles in California

2001 Corbin Sparrow. Also known as "Jelly Bean"

"It's Electrifying! Alternative Fuel Vehicles in California" presented by SMUD at the California Automobile Museum opened February 15 and runs through Father's Day, June 15, 2014. This exhibit is a historical look at the progression of alternative fuel and electric cars produced with California's trending market in mind.

From a 1911 Detroit Electric to a sleek Tesla Roadster, Museum patrons will explore and discover the technology that has driven these cars through the past and into the future. Children and adults will enjoy an enlightening display of plug-in electric, fuel cell, compressed natural gas, and hydrogen vehicles that have been influential to today's auto industry.

For more information on our title sponsor for this exhibit, SMUD Electric Vehicles, please visit SMUD.org.

Jim Sinnes' '55 Lincoln Capri leads the pack on the downhill stretch.

Talk about a wolf in sheep's clothing!

There were many other first on tour cars like Todd Darling's and Scott Mikkelson's rare 1991 Nissan Figaro of which only 3 are known to be in the US. Others included Marty Hanson's 1986 Ford Mustang GT convertible, Kevin Kirk's 1979 Ford F150, Robert Oakes' 1966 Mustang, Tom Ortiz's 1978 Chrysler LeBaron Town and Country, Bill Peachee's 1964 Oldsmobile Dynamic 88 convertible, Jack Porter's 2000 Porsche Boxster, and Timothy Swank's 1963 Chrysler New Yorker. All of these are unique and remarkable cars that were a pleasure to see!

A wonderful hot, catered lunch awaited us inside and we were able to introduce all the new members and hear about their cars that they either own or wish to own soon. Our New Member Lunch was a great success and many thanks go to our newly wedded hosts, Tony and Keith, as well as to John Kiszla and Jim Finley for making the arrangements with the yacht club. And thanks, too, for those who stayed behind to unexpectedly clean up and wash dishes!

"First on Tours" included Kevin Kirk's 1979 Ford F150, complete with "Mini-Me," Bill Peachee's 1964 Olds Dynamic 88 convertible, and Tom Ortiz's 1978 Chrysler LeBaron Town & Country wagon.

Let the drive tour commence!

It's a West, West, West, West Coast Meet!

And it's not just about Big W's. But when you see what else 1962 will be remembered for, it's a good thing we're celebrating the fabulous automobiles. Get your cars (of any year) ready for a fun weekend. AND REMEMBER: REGISTRATION AFTER JUNE 10TH INCURS A LATE FEE. Also, after June 10th room availability is limited at the Embassy Suites. So register and reserve your room now!!

World Events from 1962

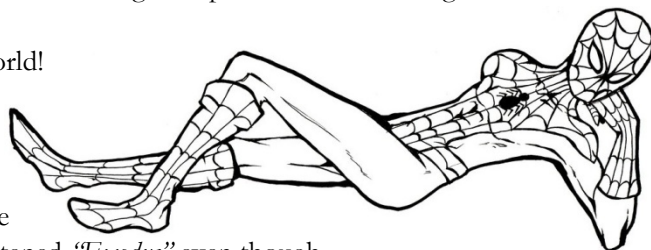

- The first K-mart and Wal-Mart stores open in America...the Chinese economy begins its slow but steady recovery.
- Andy Warhol premieres his Campbell's Soup Cans in Los Angeles. Thus begins the oft-repeated query, "But, is it art?" and endless jokes about Los Angeles in general.
- Stan Lee and Steve Ditko introduce Spider-Man to Marvel Comics after having to explain an embarrassing incident with a blow-up doll in spandex to the Los Angeles Vice Squad.
- The Cuban Missile Crisis: Why worry? It's only the end of the world!

Movie Hits/Misses from 1962

- "Low Rents of Arabia"— Paul Newman and Eva Marie Saint were perplexed when audiences thought this was about tenements in the Middle East. They were much happier when the project was christened "Exodus" even though audiences then thought it was just another Biblical epic.
- "Mr. Hobbs Takes a Valium"— Test audiences were horrified at the conclusion featuring an addicted James Stewart. The last four pages were rewritten and the name tweaked; interestingly, the rest of the movie which deals with the stress of one's family on holiday remained unchanged.
- "To Kill a Thunderbird"— Lee Iacocca's plan to introduce the Mustang was thwarted until a newly designed Thunderbird could be introduced two years later.

- "The Music Man"— A Bohemian attempt at an Off Broadway musical poking fun at local public figures and celebrities. Flopped in New York but did surprisingly well in San Francisco when it was renamed "Beach Blanket Babylon."
- "Something's Got to Give"— A remake of "My Favorite Wife," this movie was never finished due to Marilyn Monroe's untimely death during production. This remake was re-remade a year later with Doris Day in the Marilyn Monroe role. Some alterations were necessary: Marilyn's naked dip in the swimming pool was swapped out for Doris's top-down drive through a car wash.

Manly Men Prefer Chevrolet for 1959

A Case Study: Why Do Manly Men Prefer Chevrolet?

It was a mystery to me, why masculine men weren't purchasing Nash Metropolitans. I cornered a couple of butch-looking suspects, and poked and prodded them for answers.

Biff and Burt simply adore the styling of their new 1959 Chevrolet, and said, "This is the car for us!" Until they can find the right women, Biff and Burt do everything together, including purchasing their new Chevrolet. Biff says the expansive flat surfaces remind him of his service on an aircraft carrier, and it brings back happy memories.

Although every 1959 Chevy reeks of testosterone, Burt decided that the Impala 4-door-sedan enhanced their masculinity the most. "We feel that the Vista top model is a little foofy," he says.

Choosing the right options was important, and the smooth-shifting Powerglide automatic transmission was a must. Biff explains, "It keeps our hands free for coffee, cigarettes, and whatever other things we might want to handle while we drive." They settled on the 283 cu. in. V8, although Biff said there must have been a dozen engine choices. "It almost gave me a case of the vapors," he chuckled, then slapped Burt's thigh.

My research has convinced me that a man's man, who prefers the company of other manly men, can't go wrong by choosing Chevrolet. Case closed!

4000 pounds of fireworks

Every day is the Fourth of July with Thunderbird's Sports Roadster—for what other car packs such zip and sparkle, such Roman candle response into a sleek torpedo shape? What other car looks like action even when it's parked (or conceals its four-seater practicality under the slip-stream headrests of a lift-off tonneau cover)? Best of all, this fire and flair is matched by a marvelous elegance of craftsmanship, a road-leveling solidity that makes cruising seem like coasting. What does 4000 pounds of fireworks feel like? Let your Ford Dealer show you a car as gay as the glitter of its wire-spoked wheels.
